The exhibit of jewelry was stolen. It was a Friday 21 November 2015, in the night when the Museum was closed. The Manager of this museum believes fifty diamonds were stolen while the museum was closed. The day after, when the workers start their job, saw the disaster on a jewelry room. They called the police station immediately and said that the jewelry was stolen.

When the police officers came to the museum talked with the museum security and they said that they didn't have any records in cameras to see the burglars, because the cameras were broken. It's presumed that the burglars damaged the cameras because this records are the only way to prove their burglary.

After that the security said all about the cameras, the manager decided to offer a reward to anybody that said something about the burglary, specially, to the security officers because they are the only people who were that night at the museum.

Unfortunately nobody said anything about the jewelry and the case was closed.

The burglars are wanted by the police.
